The performance

The performance can last up to two hours. This can be divided into two, three or four parts, according to the needs of the event. However it is imperative to take into account the time needed to move from one area of performance to another.

A 45 minutes pause is required between each set, as well as any time necessary to move the equipment, which will of course vary according to the distances involved.

The Fanfare Electrique is technically autonomous during the performance.

However, in the case of performances after dark, it is essential that the area for the performance as well as the route for the parade, be well lit. Also the road surface should not be damaged and must be wide enough and without too steep a gradient (the route shall be gone over with the organizers or their representatives prior to the event).

The Fanfare reserves the right to modify the route, in agreement with the organizer, where it should be necessary, for technical or artistic reasons.

Dressing rooms

- They are essential for the preparation of the musicians and their equipment, as well as for storing the equipment.
- They should be on the ground floor and MUST be accessible without steps, and situated no more than 100 meters from the area of the performance or the start of the parade. These points are important as each stack of amplifiers weighs around one hundred kilograms.
- They need to be at least 50 sq meters in size.
- The following equipment is necessary: two power points one of which should be close to a fixed mirror, toilets, showers, full length mirror, clothes rack for the costumes, food and drink including fruit, savoury and sweet snacks, sodas, coffee, tea and at least 8 litres of water in half liter bottles.
- Also a well ventilated room, close to the dressing room, with two power points and accessible at all times by the musicians (keys to be supplied on our arrival), will be needed to recharge batteries.

Pre-performance check

In order to get the most out of your urban landscape, we wish to check the parade route and performance areas for the Fanfare Electrique. We would be obliged if you could supply us with four maps marked with the route and direction of the parade, as well as the desired length.

Hotels and meals

We are eight and require 4 twin rooms or 8 single rooms and dislike staying on the edge of town. We greatly appreciate local specialities, although one of our number does not eat pork. We generally arrive the day before we play in order to go over the route and make technical preparations in the morning and we leave the day after our last performance.

Parking

A secure car park or lockable garage for a lorry and trailer will be required, unless our material can be locked away at night
